

The director of the Institute of Rock Structure and Mechanics, Czech Academy of Sciences, announces a selection procedure for the position of a research worker in the laboratories of the Department of Geochemistry

The offered position

Research of geological and related materials using the ICP-OES and other analytical and physical techniques

Job classification:

- postdoktorand fellow /postdoc / junior researcher
- doktorand / Ph.D. student

Qualification, skills:

- Education in one of the natural sciences (chemistry, geochemistry, geology or a related field)
- Ph.D. (or comparable) or Ing./Mgr. with a view to obtaining a doctoral degree
- Experience with laboratory work
- Ability to develop innovative areas of research
- Reliability, independence, diligence, motivation and interest in science
- Knowledge of spoken and written English at level B2 or better
- Experience with writing scientific publications

We offer:

- Pleasant working environment
- Modern scientific equipments
- Employee benefits (5 weeks of vacation + 5 days of sick leave for full-time employment, meal vouchers)
- Possibility of part-time work
- Flexible working hours

Expected starting date of contract: according to agreement during 2025

Application procedure:

Send the application by March 14, 2025 via e-mail to the following contact address:
havelcova@irsm.cas.cz

An applicant is expected to send:

Structured CV

A brief cover letter summarizing your motivation and specifying the area of research interest
Overview of previous research results and publication activities

Selection Process

Incoming applications will be reviewed by a selection committee and suitable candidates will be invited for a personal or online interview.

Contakt:

Send applications and attachments to e-mail:

havelcova@irsm.cas.cz

Any questions?, call: 266009283